In Building Wireless 2005 – Las Vegas July 11-13 2005

Analysts are saying that within 5 years more than 50% of Americans will use their cell phones as their main lines...this creates some real challenges and opportunities for the wireless industry.

As part of our effort to better understand and meet these industry challenges, G-Wave will participate at the In Building Wireless 2005 www.iirusa.com which is taking place in Las Vegas from July 11-13, 2005. The event is geared to addressing & solving some of the challenges of implementing wireless coverage solutions in the years to come.

Please stop by our booth so that we can better understand your needs....
